

Tips for Teachers

One of the best learning experiences for new and experienced classroom teachers is the National Consortium for Teaching about Asia seminar program offered by the Five College Center for East Asian Studies. The seminars, which explore the history and cultures of China, Japan, and Korea, are designed for teachers of world geography, world history, world cultures, world literatures, and the arts. Librarians are also welcome. Graduate credits may be available. To learn more about seminar offerings in your area, contact a seminar leader who is listed below, or the Center.
