Dear Friends,

Our membership renewal mailing went out two weeks ago and already there has been a steady stream of dues envelopes arriving at the Friends' office. Thank you for your prompt response. Thank you, too, to those of you who didn't wait to receive the mailing and made contributions over the summer.

You will have plenty of opportunity this fall to learn more about the libraries. The fall issue of NewsSmith carries an in-depth article on library resources and the challenges and opportunities posed by ever-evolving new technologies. An interview with the new Director of Libraries Chris Loring in the Alumnae Quarterly provides information about how the libraries are meeting the changing needs of students, faculty and the curriculum. The News from the Libraries, due out in mid-November, will carry the latest about new acquisitions, gifts and exhibits, including an article about last month's Agents of Social Change conference organized by the Sophia Smith Collection and sponsored in part by the Friends.

Providing for the Libraries' Future

If Smith College is to grow and prosper in the years to come, then the library system - the academic heart of the institution - must grow and evolve along with the college. Smith has targeted $14.75 million in the current comprehensive campaign to ensure the libraries will continue to provide the best resources and services. The most important areas of library need have been identified as follows:

Library Acquisitions. New majors, interdisciplinary programs and evolving faculty research all mean that the demands on library resources are constantly changing. The cost of new books and journal subscriptions rises well above the level of inflation each year. Increasingly, electronic formats must also be acquired.

Sophia Smith Collection. The college seeks to build and highlight our internationally renowned women's history archive.

Library Technology. The benchmark for academic libraries is no longer simply the number of volumes on the shelves. Providing information resources in multiple formats is now essential to meet student and faculty needs.

If you are contemplating a gift, please remember that all gifts, large and small, count towards the campaign goals. For more information, contact the Office of Advancement or visit the web site at www.smith.edu/Advancement.

Upcoming Events

Thursday, October 19, 4:30 p.m., Stoddard Hall Auditorium.

Privacy: Going, Going, ... Latanya Sweeney, assistant professor of computer science and of public policy at Carnegie Mellon University, will speak about the exponential growth in the collection of person-specific data and how this information is being used. She will provide examples of publicly available data collections that particularly impact women. Sponsored by the Friends of the Libraries and the departments of Computer Science and Government.

Wednesday, November 1, 7:00 p.m., Neilson Browsing Room.

Reviving the Journals of Sylvia Plath, by Karen V. Kukil, associate curator of Rare Books. Ms. Kukil edited the Unabridged Journals of Sylvia Plath, 1950-1962 from the manuscripts in the Mortimer Rare Book Room. The English edition was published in April by Faber and Faber, the American edition will be released in October by Anchor Books. Presented by the Mortimer Rare Book Room.

Thursday, November 9, 4:30 p.m., Smith College Archives, Alumnae Gymnasium.

Reconstructing a Woman's Life: A Biographer's Challenge by former Executive Director of the Alumnae Association Nancy Cook Steeper ’59. Nancy will discuss her quest for information about Dorothy Scarritt McKinnon ’19 who was known in the 1940s as the "keeper of the gates of Los Alamos" and the "front man" for the atomic bomb. Sponsored by the Friends of the Smith College Libraries.
New Endowed and Current Funds

Of significance this past year was the creation of the Library Technology Fund, established by Marjorie Lamberti '59, a member of the Friends' executive committee. This special fund will provide the libraries with the flexibility necessary to respond quickly to changing technologies and provide an optimal learning climate in the 21st century.

The Ann Seager Castle 1982 Fund was set up by the friends and family of the late Ann Castle '82. It will be used to expand the libraries' holdings on women in leadership and bio-medical ethics.

Marilyn Bender Altschul '44 endowed the Sophia Smith Collection - Outreach Fund. This fund is currently making possible a short documentary film about the collection. Expected to be completed this winter, the film will premier next March.

Some Special Gifts

The Smith College Archives and the Ruth Mortimer Rare Book Room Fund each benefited from anonymous donations of $30,000 given respectively in memory of Margaret Stoers Grierson '22 and Ruth Mortimer '53. Other noteworthy gifts received during the year included an $8,000 gift from the United Congregational Church in Holyoke in honor of Craig Felton; $10,000 from John and Fern Armtyage in memory of L. Frances Armtyage '33 whose teaching collection of materials on the history of the West Indies and other former British colonies was also donated. Gifts of $1,000 or more were received from Gail Bemey, the estate of Elizabeth Power Richardson '43, Harriet Worcester Rylaarsdam '36, Anne White in memory of Kathenne Meissner, and Jane Wallace '47 in support of the College Archives.

Annual Meeting

Mark your calendars for March 30, 2001 -- next year’s annual meeting and lecture. Our guest speaker will be Peter Rose, Sophia Smith Professor of Sociology and Anthropology and Director of the American Studies Diploma Program. Professor Rose is currently organizing The Anatomy of Exile project for the Kahn Liberal Arts Institute. This interdisciplinary study will examine the causes and consequences of forced migrations, particularly in the twentieth century. His talk will reflect his research on the role of William Allan Neilson and others during the 1930's in the rescue and resettlement of refugee writers, artists and scholars.

Thank you for your support this past year. I hope you will be able to join us for some of our upcoming events.

Sincerely,

Mary D. Pinney '58 AC '80
Chair, Friends of the Smith College Libraries

Friends' Support in 1999-2000

With your help, the Friends provided support for the Libraries in the following ways:

- A total of $14,000 was provided for new acquisitions.
- $4,600 was used for the purchase of ILLiad, a new software system that will assist both patrons and staff in submitting and processing interlibrary loan requests.
- The Friends' first staff development grant was awarded to Marlene Znoy of Nonprint Resources who attended a week-long workshop on the digital preservation of photographs at the Eastman House in Rochester, NY.
- A career panel about job opportunities in archives was held for students last October.
- Support was provided for two exhibits: Illuminating Words: The Artist's Books of Christopher Gaukby at the Museum of Art last fall and Epistles in the Life of the Artist held at the Josten Library in conjunction with the Berdiez: Past, Present, Future colloquium in March.

Friends of the Libraries Executive Committee

Mary D. Pinney '58 AC '80, Chair, Patricia Brooks '90, Alison France '79, Susan Goodman '81, Betsy L. Humphreys '69, Micheline E. Jedrey '71, Marjorie Lamberti '59, Ann Mandel '53, Enid Mark '54, Susanne E. Roberts '66.

The Friends Executive Committee serves to identify and support specific needs within the libraries. Each committee member brings with her or him a unique perspective and a deep concern for the well-being of the libraries. Stepping down from the committee are: Lavinia Clay '69 of Alsimer Antigua, Inc., Carla Montori '72 from the University of Michigan Library and Sarah E. Thomas '70 from Cornell University Library. We are grateful for all their contributions over the past several years.
