Have you heard? The new 5 day ILI calendar

At ILI, our main objective is to design programs that best fit our students' needs. When many students came to us with feedback about wanting to make more out of their Arabic learning experience, we quickly made the adjustments!

ILI has devised a new calendar, with courses running 5 days a week (rather than 4), from Sunday to Thursday (rather than Monday to Thursday). All courses are now 4 week courses (including the 1st testing day, registration, and advising) and there are no scheduled holidays, so courses follow on one after the next. The feedback we have received so far on the new calendar has been very good. We are extremely happy with the changes, as we hope all of you will be.

Some of Our Clients

At ILI, we take pride in providing Arabic teaching to a wide range of prominent universities, embassies, and governments.

We provided Arabic courses for the British Foreign & Commonwealth Office (in addition to training for diplomats for operational exams), the British Embassy in Cairo, the New Zealand Embassy in Cairo, the United States' Naval Academy and the American Army Defense Language Institute, the University of Edinburgh, Leeds, Odense, Oslo, and many more.

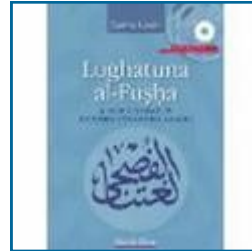

Attention! Our new Modern Standard Arabic book is out!

ILI has released the latest addition to its rich book series. The book titled "Lughatuna al-Fusha" is designed for adult learners interested in learning Modern Standard Arabic (MSA) at a beginner's stage. MSA is the language of newspapers, books, and newscasts throughout the Arab World.

The book, divided into 10 chapters, provides learners with gradual acquisition of the language. It is accompanied by a CD and a DVD containing visual aids and presentations to teach students written Arabic as well as audio material extracted from different real-life situations. The book is the first one in a series of 5 books in the MSA series.

ILI produces its own book series which is published through the American University Press. Developed by ILI's renowned textbook author Samia Louis, the illustrative books cater to all levels; from beginner to advanced. The books follow the ACTFL (American Certificate in Teaching Foreign Languages) standards and provide learners with a quick and easy way to learn Arabic and gain knowledge about the Egyptian culture.

Our spoken Arabic course, Kallimni Arabi is already available in 5 books published by AUC Press. They can be purchased from good bookshops or on Amazon.com. For more information on our books click here.

ILI Profile

Established in Cairo, Egypt, 35 years ago, the International Language Institute (ILI), a member of U.K. based International House Worldwide Organization of Language Schools, was the first school in the region to focus on Arabic language teaching.

As the official Arabic provider for the organization, ILI provides set courses, tailor made programs, and cultural experiences for university students, governments, organizations, and any foreign individuals interested in learning the language.

ILI also provides Teacher Training for Arabic as a foreign language.

Our school is centrally located, just a short walk from one of the main shopping streets in Cairo. There are 18 air-conditioned classrooms, a library, free internet café, and a student cafeteria.

Accommodation can be arranged in the school's own, extremely comfortable on-site residence, or in shared apartments and hotels (the institute can arrange for that).

To help students get the most out of their time in Cairo, our school arranges a wide range of activities and excursions, including weekend excursions, desert trips, the Pyramids, Fayoum, Coptic Cairo, Islamic Cairo, and the historic ancient port of Alexandria.

Focus on the British Foreign & Commonwealth Office

One of ILI's biggest clients is the Foreign & Commonwealth Office (FCO). The institute provides Arabic courses for diplomats studying with us full time who will take the FCO Operations Level Exam. Additionally, we teach diplomats already working in the British Embassy in Cairo and help prepare them for the Advanced Extensive Level Exam.

The FCO is the government department responsible for promoting British interests overseas and supporting British citizens and businesses around the globe (<http://www.fco.gov.uk/en/about-us/what-is-the-fco/>).
