We have worked closely with faculty to ensure the accuracy of this list but we are often not notified of last-minute changes such as an exam or a professor’s illness. We appreciate your understanding!

Class visit procedures:

Faculty teaching the courses on this list are aware there may be multiple visitors both Thursday, April 14th and Friday, April 15th.

Please note the following:

1) Please arrive at the designated building and classroom five minutes before the class starts and introduce yourself to the professor. Please stay for the entire class period; it can be disruptive if you leave before the class is over.

2) With so many visitors on campus for this program there is a possibility that the class you choose may be full. Don't despair -- or stand in the back of the room for the entire class period! Please choose another class from the list. (We apologize if you can't see a class in your proposed major or academic interest. We hope that seeing any Smith class will help you understand how teaching and learning happens here.)

3) Please tell us about your class visit on the Open Campus evaluation form which will be included in your registration packet.

If you have any questions, please don't hesitate to ask. Members of the admission staff are eager to talk with you.
