The Buddhist Studies Concentration awards the Subul Sunim prize annually to the best academic paper written for a class taken at Smith College on a subject in the field of Buddhist Studies.

Smith and Five Colleges undergraduates are eligible. A student should submit the paper under an assumed name. The required cover sheet on which to list assumed name, actual name, email address, phone number and the course for which the paper was originally written is available on the website. Submit papers to Phoebe McKinnell, Green Street Annex 206, by noon on May 2, 2014.
