Assistant Professor Jessica Moyer from East Asian Languages and Literatures will present an overview of her current research comparing portrayals of women’s kin and household relationships across literary and non-literary genres of the 17th and 18th centuries, along with a discussion of the purposes and accidents that shaped the research process.

WHO: Assistant Professor Jessica Moyer

WHAT:

Professor Jessica Moyer from East Asian Languages and Literatures will present an overview of her current research comparing portrayals of women’s kin and household relationships across literary and non-literary genres of the 17th and 18th centuries, along with a discussion of the purposes and accidents that shaped the research process.

WHEN: Friday, Nov 6, 12:15pm

WHERE: Wright Hall Lewis Global Studies Center