Dear Student,

Looking for a fun, fruitful summer of growth and accomplishment? The 69th Japan America Student Conference (JASC) taking place in Japan this August is still accepting applicants! Together with 71 other delegates from Japan and the U.S., you will travel to four sites throughout Japan. Throughout the month-long conference, you will be able to:

● delve into critical contemporary issues through roundtable discussions, forums, lectures, and field trips
● strengthen your professional and leadership skills on a global scale
● build your professional network through Receptions featuring prominent individuals from business, government, and academia
● join the ranks of established alumni such as Henry Kissinger, a previous prime minister of Japan, and leaders in prominent companies like Delta Airlines, Oracle, Rakuten, and more!
● forge lifelong friendships with other student leaders from both countries

Basic facts about the 2017 conference:
Dates: August 3-5 (American Orientation), August 6-28 (69th JASC), 2017
*Note: Applicants must be able to attend the full duration of the Orientation and Conference
Theme: Self and Society: Sharing Perspectives and Inspiring Action
The conference will be conducted in English.
Students from all disciplines and majors are encouraged to apply.
Participation Fee: $3,500, all-inclusive (Flights, lodging, ground transportation, food, and programs during the conference are covered. Delegates are responsible for getting themselves to the Orientation site and back home)
