ARE YOU IN THE GPA "BALL PARK" FOR FELLOWSHIPS? GPA is one – but by no means only – of criteria considered.

Fellowships listed are highly competitive. Awardees' GPAs will, in general, be very high. Below are rough guidelines of the GPA required to be competitive for the fellowships listed. If you are close to the GPA levels cited, then explore the fellowships and talk with advisers in detail about whether it is worth investing your time to pursue them. Note: If your GPA is slightly lower than indicated, you'll need to show compensating strengths in other areas valued by the particular programs. Fellowships awardees have, on average, very high GPAs, often above those below.

You are in the same ballpark as past fellowship awardees if ...	The most competitive on GPA	V. competitive, but GPA may not be the most competitive criteria
	Beinecke*, Churchill, Gates, Goldwater*, Knight-Hennessy, Marshall, Mitchell, Rhodes, Truman*
You are a 1 st year and your first semester GPA is ...	3.75+	3.2+
You are a sophomore and your GPA is ...	3.80+	3.3+
You are a junior and your GPA is ...	3.85+	3.4+
You are a senior (or alum) and your GPA is ...	3.90+	3.5+

* Application before senior year. See details abt. Appln. timing above. Where Smith nomination required, you will need to be confirmed as a nominee in semester before application.

Fulbright fellowship awardees typically have high GPAs, too.

Talk with Don Andrew about GPA expectations for the particular Fulbright types and locations that most interest you.
