Giving Voice to the Voiceless Through Documentary Film

Beth Murphy

The filmmaker (Principle Pictures) talks about her current project—a feature-length documentary about the first all-girls' school in a rural region of Afghanistan—and about the particular challenges faced by women documentary filmmakers.

Wednesday, October 10, 2012
4:30 p.m.
Seelye Hall 201

Free, open to the public, and wheelchair accessible.
Sponsored by the Smith College Department of Film Studies, German Studies, and Education, the Project on Women and Social Change, and the Smith College Endowed Lecture Fund.
For disability access information or accommodation requests, please call (617) 584-1407. To request a sign language interpreter, call (617) 584-2072 (voice or TTY) or send email to eab@smith.edu at least 10 days before the event.