Introduction to the Community Service Office (CSO)

CSO is a comprehensive community service program. Our philosophy centers on encouraging students to engage in a wide range of community service work to give back to the local community and gain insight into the complex social problems that face our communities. We provide students with opportunities to engage in: regular long and short-term community placements, non-profit administrative training, and specialized leadership programs, in a collaborative model that is community driven, ethically informed, and reflectively adaptive.

We are part of the Jandon Center for Community Engagement (JCCE), which also provides support for community service learning courses, community based participatory research, and outreach projects.

Community Service Opportunities

Long-term: Regular weekly placements and community partnerships ranging from 1 to 8 hours per week.

- Volunteer at local shelters, community development, or social action programs
- Tutor children in school and after school
- Serve as a "Decisional Trainer" to inmates
- Assist as a hotline advocate at a local shelter for battered women
- Teach basic literacy and ESL to adults
- Work with urban farm programs

Short-term: One-time projects that last from several hours to a full day.

- Plant or harvest vegetables at local community gardens
- Reclaim agricultural land with urban agricultural programs
- Assist at fundraisers for local nonprofits
- Participate in a community cleanup
- Build a house with Habitat for Humanity
- Sort food at a local food bank

The CSO organizes short-term projects on a regular basis and provides technical support and assistance to student groups or house communities who want to organize their own projects. Our short-term chairs are ready and able to assist with any and all details, including transportation.

Community-based Learning

The JCCE provides support for faculty with community-based learning courses (CBL) and community-based participatory research projects (CBR). Community-based learning is a teaching methodology and philosophy of reciprocal learning designed to put theory into practice by combining the elements of academic study with interactive community placements or research.

Student Leadership Development Training:

CSO Board:

- Seven to ten students are appointed to the Executive Board. The Board develops policies, coordinates events, and organizes educational gatherings on community needs and volunteering.
- The CSO Board offers students a voice in the scope and direction on the administrative side of CSO helping to shape community service projects and programs. Board members gain life-long, leadership, and project management skills.
- Members learn the basics of operating a small non-profit organization, attend weekly one-hour board meetings, and work one hour per week in the office on administrative tasks. Each chairperson is responsible for specific events and community programs.
- Recruitment for these positions is done in March. Interested students complete an on-line application and our outgoing board chooses the following board members for the next year. Go to: https://www.smith.edu/academics/jandon-center/community-service-office and scroll to “Apply Now” under “CSO Student Executive Board”
- This is a year-long commitment.

Community Service House Reps

- CSO House Representatives encourage students to get involved in community service work; they are essential to the continued success of the CSO.
- Each elected representative acts as a liaison, informing house members of CSO activities and recruiting students to volunteer.
- House reps also attend bi-monthly meetings; help get the word out about long-term placements, short-term projects, and monthly Community Education Luncheons; and help involve Smith College houses in CSO activities.
- House Reps are elected at the first house meeting of the year.
- This is a year-long commitment.
- For more information regarding the House Reps position go to: www.smith.edu/academics/jandon-center/community-service

Community Fellows

- The Community Fellows program is designed for students who are interested in deepening their commitment to a particular long-term community partnership by acting as a leader/liaison between the Smith community and the agency.
• In addition to working directly with the community partner, the fellows focus on recruiting/supporting volunteers, being a primary contact person, scheduling, and organizing training and orientation sessions and reflection lunches for Smith volunteers.

• To apply in spring for next academic year go: https://www.smith.edu/academics/jandon-center/community-service-office and scroll to “Community Fellows Program” under Other Leadership Opportunities and click on “Apply Here”.
How to Get Involved

- Visit the CSO in the Jandon Center for Community Engagement (JCCE) and talk with staff. We are in Wright Hall, lower level, 013.
- Come to the Community Service Fair! Held every September and February, representatives from many CSO partnering agencies attend. You can talk to them about the type of work available at their agency, the hourly commitment required, and even sign up to work with the agency right there.
- Browse options for involvement on the web at www.smith.edu/academics/jandon-center/community-service or come the office for a hard copy of the Directory of Projects with Partnering Agencies
- Contact the CSO. If you would like to talk to CSO staff before calling the agency contact person or need any other support, contact the JCCE Administrative Coordinator, Arianna Collins at 413-585-3060, aacollins@smith.edu or the Community Service Director, Tiertza-leah Schwartz at 413-585-2758, tschwartz@smith.edu to set up an appointment.
- Attend a Community Ed Luncheon. These luncheons, occurring three times per semester, offer a chance for students to learn about vetted agencies in the community. They also provide valuable volunteer opportunities and ideas. See our schedule of events online or on the JCCE bulletin board.
- Take part in a short-term project. It is a great way to begin your community service work! We sponsor numerous projects per year. Additionally, we can help you organize a project for your house, department, or student organization.
- Become a regular. Long-term, weekly placements are a great way to give back to the community, learn new skills, and develop lasting relationships. The CSO coordinates regular weekly placements ranging from one to eight hours per week (per semester or academic year). The Directory of Projects with Partnering Agencies contains a listing of approved local agencies and their respective contact people. You can call the contact person directly and talk about service opportunities and arrange to work at the agency. You can review the Directory online at www.smith.edu/academics/jandon-center/community-service. Please note that there are many agencies within walking distance or on a bus route from campus, and that CSO also has vehicles to help with transportation to projects or placements.
- “Like” CSO on Facebook at www.facebook.com/SmithCSO to get regular updates on community service events and opportunities.
- Join the CSO listserv and receive emails about upcoming community service opportunities. Request to be added to the listserv at: cso@smith.edu
- Become a CSO House Representative and promote CSO activities. At the beginning of the academic year each house elects a CSO House Representative. If you are interested in promoting CSO activities, encouraging your housemates to volunteer and get involved, and increasing your house involvement on campus and the local communities, you can contact your house president, house community advisor, or the CSO directly. Bi-weekly meetings are held on Thursday afternoons at 5:00 pm.
Questions to Ask Yourself

Find the “perfect fit” for you. Below are some questions to ask yourself as you begin to consider working in community service projects and placements.

Time Considerations

- How much time do you have available to do community service or social justice work?
- How many hours a week would you like to be involved?
- How much of a commitment are you willing to make? How many months are you able to commit to a volunteer job?
- Can you follow through with your commitment? This is a quality that agencies look for in volunteers.

Skills, Interests, & Experience

- What are you passionate about? How do you feel you can make a contribution to the community and address issues in which you have a personal interest?
- Have you done community service work before? What did you like/dislike about it? Do you want to do something similar again?
- Do you have any hobbies, interests, or paid work experience that you could use in your job?
- Are there career skills or experience you would like to develop through your community work?

Job Setting

- Do you have a geographic preference? How far are you willing to travel to do volunteer work? How would you get there? Do you have access to transportation?
- Can you become a certified Smith driver to use a CSO van to get to a placement or do you need to look for a placement within walking distance or on a bus route? Are there other Smithies interested in the same placement and are any of them a certified driver so that you can carpool in a CSO van?
  - For more information on transportation options go to: www.smith.edu/academics/jandon-center/community-service/volunteers
- Do you want to work inside or outside?
- Do you want to work independently or with others in a team effort?

Focus

- What group do you want to work with: Children? Teenagers? Adults? Homeless? Refugees?
- Do you want to work with a community action or social justice program, a school or educational program?
Personal Considerations

- Do you know someone who could provide a reference for you if you need one? Have you asked that individual in advance so they will know that they may be contacted?

AND, If You Don’t Drive You Can Still Get There from Here

CSO partners with several agencies within walking distance of Smith College and on PVTA bus routes. Several are wheelchair accessible.

- Baystate Medical Center
- Big Brothers/Big Sisters Kids to Smith College Campus Program
- Center for New Americans
- Cooley Dickinson Hospital
- Food Bank of Western Mass, Inc.
- Friends of the Hampshire County Homeless, Inc.
- International Language Institute
- The Literacy Project
- MA Fair Housing
- Northampton Survival Center
- Safe Passage
- Springfield Schools Volunteers
- Treehouse Foundation and Community

*If you need assistance with the cost of bus passes, contact cso@smith.edu

CSO carpool vans also transport students to:

- Homework House
- Kensington International School
- Treehouse

AND, If You Can Drive, Please Consider Becoming a CSO Certified Driver

The CSO maintains four vehicles to assist students in getting to community service partner organizations, Jandon Center-related initiatives and projects, and religious services. Each year you will need to register with your driver's license and complete an online training and safety quiz. For instructions on becoming a Certified Driver, go to:
https://www.smith.edu/sites/default/files/media/Documents/CSO/Become-Certified-Driver-CSO.pdf
Important Tips for Volunteers in Finding a Long-Term Placement

When Contacting an Agency via Telephone, E-mail, or Web-based Contact:

- Introduce yourself. State your interests and expertise. Ask them what positions are available. Email often works best. Follow up with a phone call if necessary.

- Make an appointment with the agency coordinator or find out if they have a group screening meeting.

- Understand that some agencies are very busy and may not return your email or phone call right away. Be patient. Take the initiative. Be politely persistent. Leave detailed messages. Feel free to call the CSO for help or information.

During the Interview / Screening Process:

- Let the agency know your time commitment. Be open and honest with the agency from the beginning.

- Ask for an orientation. It is important to know and respect the rules and regulations of an agency. Some agencies will automatically give you an orientation; with others, you may have to take the initiative and ask.

- Ask who to go to if you have questions or concerns. During the interview or any time during your placement, feel free to ask them questions. The more you understand how the agency works, the more you can offer and the more worthwhile your experience will be.

If You Have Concerns About Your Placement:

- Reassess the goals of the agency. Are they compatible with yours? Have you followed the agency’s goals consistently? Have you fulfilled all of your responsibilities and been consistent with your attendance?

- Try to have an open dialogue with them about your concerns.

- Don’t hesitate to call the CSO for assistance and support and/or arrange to meet with the CSO Director or a Board member.

- Remember that your role is to be a partner with the organization and help them with their projects. This means that you might have questions about their approach or procedures. Be thoughtful in how you articulate your questions given that agencies have limited resources and staffing.
Placement Guidelines / Best Practices

Keeping Your Commitments:

- Remember that you are a guest in the community/agency.
- Make a commitment.
- Don't make a commitment you cannot keep.
- Show up; people are depending on you.
- If you are expected to be somewhere, be there on time—every time.
- Make your placement a priority by organizing your life and responsibilities so that you show up when expected.
  - If you were up late the night before because you were studying, our expectation is that you will still go to your placement.
  - The clients/mentees/tutees you are working with deal with many disappointments in their daily lives. You need to show them respect and extend your support by showing up.
- You should also give advance notice, if possible, if you will not be coming in at your regularly scheduled time.
- If you are sick and can't go to your placement, you need to get in touch with your supervisor to provide as much advance notice as possible.

Be Clear About the Parameters of Your Placement:

- Your placement has a beginning, middle and end. It is very important to be clear with the client/mentee/tutee when you will be there for your volunteering and when you will finish your placement. In the field of social work, this is called "termination"; termination starts at the beginning of the placement by being clear about your role.
- Periodically during the placement you should remind the client/mentee/tutee when the placement will end; this helps frame and normalize the relationship. Do not wait until the last week to tell the client that you are not going to be working with them any longer.
  - If you have trouble with terminating relationships, practice what you are going to say beforehand and make sure you follow through.
  - Say, for example, "I have enjoyed working with you. You have made good progress in..." "I wanted to let you know that I will be working with you for four more weeks." Be specific in your recognition of their progress.
- Keep the focus on your work and commitment to them, not on details of your upcoming vacation or other aspects of your life.
- Realize that termination or breaks in the placement may bring up issues for the client. Listen and help them to express and process their feelings. A client/mentee/tutee's response may vary widely—from indifference to anger. Each of these responses has meaning behind it. These responses are not about you as much as they are about other relationships and disappointments in their lives.
The Scope and Boundaries of Your Placement:

- Contact outside of the placement is not okay. Keeping terms clear shows respect for the person you are working with and models good, transparent practices and communication.
- You are a role model. You need to be friendly and supportive but also keep in mind that you are not friends with your client/mentee/tutee.
- You have a specific role and it is very important that you follow the particular parameters of your responsibility; your contact with the people you are working with is limited to the hours, times and scope of the placement.
  - For example, you should not continue to meet with a tutor/mentee after the placement is finished, in different settings or at an unsupervised location nor should you give them the expectation that you will stay in touch with them after the placement is completed.
  - Some mentoring relationships have contact outside the primary meeting built into the structure, but most client/mentee/tutee programs do not. Do not be in contact through e-mail, phone calls, Facebook, etc. unless you have specific permission from the agency.
- Because there may be economic disparity between you and your client and because it is essential to keep the focus on your client/mentee/tutee, you should not exchange gifts with him or her at the end of the placement. You can write the client a card about their progress and efforts.

Be Supportive:

- Be specific in your praise. Avoid the non-descript “good job.” Instead, state what you noticed and energize their success. For example:
  - “Your letters look very clear. I can now see the difference between this ‘i’ and this ‘l’ in your sentence.”
  - “I noticed you sharing your toy with (x); that was very generous of you.”
  - “You did wonderfully reading that story. You enunciated your words clearly.”
- You can provide proactive recognition to support healthy choices and rules being adhered to, such as:
  - "I heard your friend yelling at you. You could have yelled back but instead you remained calm. You gave your friend time to calm down and then discussed why she was upset. It takes emotional maturity to do what you did."
  - “I am noticing how safe you are being with the scissors today.”
  - “That sounds like a very healthy choice you just made for yourself.”
- Re-direct negative behavior in a positive direction. For example:
  - “(X), I need for students to concentrate right now, so please focus on your work. You can have your conversation after class.”
  - (Children running down the stairs) “Wait. You are all going so fast. Let’s go more slowly and count how many stairs there are.” (You can turn this into a math game.) If we walk up and down these stairs 4 times today, how many steps have you taken?”
In client/mentee/tutee relationships, the primary goal is to meet the academic needs of the tutee. However, lives are complex and things will come up that don't directly have to do with learning math or English.

You and the client/mentee/tutee may come from different or similar circumstances, cultures and types of communities. Remember to put your preconceived judgments aside about their culture, community, or reasons why they need tutoring support. Look for strength in their ability to persevere under challenging circumstances.

When your client/mentee/tutee brings up something that is challenging for them in their family or school, listen carefully.

Do not try to make their situation better by attempting to "balm" their feelings or make things right. The issues and complexities they grapple with on a daily basis are challenging and you are only working with them for a short period of time.

Be an attentive listener. Sometimes people just need to tell someone how they are feeling or talk about how they are experiencing a difficult situation. If you show you are listening and engaged, they will feel affirmed.

- Keep the focus on them and their expressions. Rather than telling them about a similar experience you may have had and how you managed it, demonstrate that you are "following what they are saying" or encouraging them to come up with responses to their situation.

- Be open, attentive, and curious about what they share with you or bring up in a tutoring session.
  - Ask, "How come?" not, "Why?"
  - Ask, "How so...?" or "What was that like?" instead of, "How did that make you feel?" or "What do you think?"
  - Ask, "What do you want to do about that?" or, "Is there someone at school or home you could talk to about this?"
  - Use phrases such as "Can you give words to that...", "What do you imagine...?", or "Can you say more about that...?"
  - Repeat their phrasing to show that you are listening. For example, "So you are upset because your Dad doesn't visit you...?" Let them finish the sentence and take it where they want to go.

At times when you reach an impasse in tutoring or during a difficult conversation, it is ok to sit with the silence to let them take the lead.

If they bring up concerns about abuse or neglect, their personal safety, depression, bullying or other at-risk behaviors or significant problems, you want to let the on-site supervisor and someone within the CSO know about the situation that day – do not leave the site without talking with the on-site supervisor who will inform you of any next steps.
Community Engagement Safety Policies for Students
Smith College Jandon Center for Community Engagement (JCCE)

In every community setting, whether rural, urban, or a small town, you need to pay careful attention to your personal safety. There are ever-present risks to safety, and we strongly encourage you to follow at all times the “best practices” listed below. Contact the JCCE with questions at jce@smith.edu or 413-585-3060.

Personal Safety:

- Pay careful attention to your surroundings at all times of the day and be alert at all times.
- Let friends and colleagues know where you are going, what you are doing, and when you plan to return.
- If possible, travel with another person or in a small group.
- Carry a cell phone for emergencies.
- Do not wear headphones or be so busy texting that you are unaware of your surroundings.

Safe Travel:

- Only certified drivers may drive college vehicles. Drivers must follow all safety guidelines listed in the CSO van regulations. Additionally, when transporting placement program participants, all regulations concerning permission slips and volunteer/participant ratio must be followed:
  - For more information and to review guidelines, go to: www.smith.edu/academics/jandon-center/community-service/volunteers
- In the event of an accident or breakdown, follow the safety instructions in the key packet.
- When traveling to and from a placement, be aware of your surroundings. Have your key ready to open the car door; keep the car locked and your valuables out of sight. Do not label keys with your name or other identification. Reduce exposure to risk by taking the shortest distance and the safest route.
- Always park the van in a well-lit and well-traveled location. In general, avoid parking in an underground parking garage, where it can be difficult to remove yourself from a situation. Remain visible to others around you.
On-Site Safety Considerations:

- All of our partner organizations have emergency policies to respond to fire, assaults, hostage situations, or other safety issues. Ask them to review these policies with you, so you will know how to respond should a situation occur.
- Violent situations can happen quickly anywhere at any time, so be alert. They can be home-based (domestic violence), school-based or site-based (peer-to-peer violence, an attacker coming into the school), street violence (gang- or drug-related, an assault or robbery).
- Our partner agencies are aware of incidents in the community and want to ensure your safety. Check in with agency staff to find out if anything has happened recently of which you should be aware and what steps have been taken. For instance, at times agencies have requested increased police patrols or designated specific travel routes or entrances to use when coming and going.
- Ask agency coordinators for the contact information and locations of Community Policing Substations in the community where you are working, so that if you are concerned for your safety you can contact them or go there.
- If someone confronts you in anger or you observe an escalation in tension, do not try to manage it yourself. Immediately inform agency staff so that they can respond. Do not hesitate to get agency staff involved; part of what we are teaching program participants is how to behave appropriately to ensure their safety. If you are out in the community, immediately go to a safe location, such as a store or business.
- If accosted, do not engage in a confrontation about your personal possessions. They are not worth the risk of getting hurt.
- Trust your intuition or gut. If you feel unsafe, do what you need to do to ensure your safety. Leave the situation and go to a place that is safe, then let someone in authority know about the situation.
- Keep JCCE staff informed of any situations that occur, so we can support you and provide you with additional resources, if needed.

Working with Children:

- If you are working with children up to the age of 17, you need to be aware of Smith College’s Child Safety Policy and Guide. To review, please go to:
  - Additionally, you will need to meet specific requirements by taking the following online assessments through the Five College Child Safety Certification:
    - “Safety and Well-being of Minors” (program is less than 1 hour)
    - “How Teachers and Other Educators Can Protect Our Children” (program is 1 hour)

- To start the process, go: https://riskmgmt.mtholyoke.edu/child_cert/login.php and create a profile. If you can't find your program/agency on the list, register for the program titled "unaffiliated students, staff or volunteers."
• If you are working on-campus, then you will be required to submit a Criminal Offender Record Information (CORI) check through the college. If you are working off campus, the partnering agency will have you complete one if they so choose.

• The point of reviewing the policy and guide and taking the on-line courses is to give you the skills to be a thoughtful observer who is able to identify warning signs of suspected child abuse. You are eyes and ears on the scene in protecting children from sexual misconduct.

Suggestions for Working with Children after a Traumatic Situation has Occurred:

• For some children, violence is a regular occurrence with which they must cope. They may respond in a variety of ways. Their experience does not have to mirror your experience. Wait until a child brings up the subject.

• Use active listening skills to understand the child. Let the child express the experience. Do not insert yourself or your opinions into the conversation. Be attentive and focused. Do not make judgments about what happened. For example, if a child brings up a situation, the tutor should listen to the child's concern and confirm the child's feelings. If a child says, "Somebody shot at a school bus" the tutor can say, neutrally, “I heard that happened.” If the child says, "I would have been scared," the tutor can say, "Yes, I think I would have been scared too.” Letting the child lead the discussion is key; avoid letting the tutor’s fears compound the child’s.

• Remember, you are not a counselor and that is not your role. As a mentor and role model, you can be a listener and a support. Do not attempt to serve as a therapist.

• Children may not be fully aware of a situation, so do not frighten them by making a big deal about it if it is not a big deal for them.

• If a child brings up the subject be attentive and focused. Let the child know that you are willing to listen. Let the child talk, and just follow along. Rather than ask how the child feels, say “Tell me about that,” “So how is this for you?” and “What do you think?” Repeat back what the child said, to show that you are listening.

• Affirm and validate the child’s experience and feelings about the situation. Tell the child it is okay to think and feel whatever the child thinks and feels. Tell the child that these thoughts and feelings make sense, that they are normal, and that it is normal to have a wide range of responses.

• Encourage the child to speak with program staff or other trusted adults, such as a teacher, neighbor, parent, or school counselor.

• If you have had such a conversation with a child, let program staff know.

FOR VOLUNTEERS: Please follow the link to sign the agreement, stating that you will do your best to adhere to CSO’s best practices and safety procedures:

Thank you for your interest in community service!
The Treehouse Foundation (www.refca.net) is dedicated to Re-Envisioning Foster Care in America. The Treehouse Foundation's mission is: To inspire, implement and support innovative practices which ensure children experiencing foster care find their places in life-long family relationships and supportive communities that help them lead fulfilling and productive lives. Its major initiatives are the Treehouse Community in Easthampton and the Re-Envisioning Foster Care in American (REFCA) Movement. The Treehouse Community is devoted to cultivating and supporting life-long connections and promoting innovative, multi-generational and community based solutions for children who have experienced foster care.

Goals: To make meaningful contributions to Treehouse programs and the Treehouse community that will enhance community development, support children and their success, and build meaningful relationships between Treehouse and Smith College students. To expose students from Smith to an innovative program that seeks to be a model for change and Re-Envisioning of foster care in America. To offer students an opportunity to connect their learning goals and interests with a volunteer experience. To provide experiences that will benefit both students from Smith and the Treehouse community. To promote learning skills and confidence and build meaningful relationships.

Skills: Ability to make a commitment. Prior relevant experience with children and young people and ability to support learning skills is a plus. Interest and enthusiasm, curiosity and flexibility. Good relational skills and creativity. Reliability. For development: interest in learning new skills, organizational and computer skills.

Training: Training is designed to ensure that volunteers are informed and prepared for their roles and understand the mission and vision of the Treehouse Foundation and Community.

Directions: From the Chapel parking lot, turn left out of the parking lot onto Elm St. go thru 2 lights. Get in left lane and turn left at 3rd light onto New South Street. This is Route 10. Take route 10 (South Street) to Easthampton. Bear right and continue straight at the rotary as you approach town center. At the first stop light, go straight and then take left fork. You are now on Park Street. Continue down Park for just over a mile. You will see the entrance to White Brook Middle School on your left. Just past this turn, you will see the entrance to Treehouse on your left, noted by a sign for Easthampton Meadows. Proceed down to Treehouse Circle and the Community Center at 1 Treehouse Circle.

Development Intern

Our development team is in its 3rd and has already been very successful with house parties, developing our donor base, and more. This intern's objectives will coincide with our plans to raise funds for the Walnut St development and more.

Evaluation Intern

Evaluating how a food organization is being effective has been a struggle for many groups that are similar to ours. Do you measure food by weight? Do you measure the number of consumers? This intern will look at our interaction with Whole Foods System work.

Events Intern

We have two major events each year. One is our fall Pancake Breakfast and the other is our spring Plant Sale and Gardeners.
Gardening the Community

Gathering. This intern will work with the team that is formed to make these events happen.

Markets and Products Intern – We are looking to make a stronger leap in providing our pesticide-free vegetables and fruits to more restaurants and corner stores in our area. This intern will survey stores and restaurants to find popular products for us to evaluate and make happen.

Urban Farming Intern – An urban farming intern would do work with us involving: improving our seed to seedling process, evaluating our interplanting and covercrop processes, utilizing beneficial weeds, effectively sourcing and growing mushrooms, and more.

Mission: Gardening the Community is a food justice organization engaged in youth development, urban agriculture, and sustainable living to build healthy and equitable communities.

Goals: The goals of our opportunities include assuring that meaningful work takes places while you are with us. We have found that in the past our intern placements have been either very successful or not as much. We want to assure that it’s the former by offering more precise and realistic project goals, being flexible with schedules by allowing some work to be done off site, and by offering a longer term internship to provide a broad but detailed opportunity to work with a vibrant organization doing critical work with the youth of Springfield.

Skills: Commitment, passion, compassion, empathy. If you have any experience working with youth, gardening/farming, or doing development work that would be a plus.

Training: Will provide training.

Directions: Please use Google Maps or other applicable navigation to go to: 256 Hancock St, Springfield, MA 01109.

Mission: The mission of The Food Bank of Western Massachusetts is to feed our neighbors in need and lead the community to end hunger.

Goals:

For volunteers:
The Food Bank of Western Massachusetts seeks to provide the motivated and engaged members of our community with meaningful volunteer opportunities, where volunteers really know that their work is important and their presence is needed. We understand volunteer opportunities as a reciprocal relationship: a great experience for you, and much needed work for us!

For internships:
The Food Bank of Western Massachusetts seeks to provide meaningful internship opportunities to students with a passion for food justice. Your supportive, comprehensive, and creative work experiences at The Food Bank will help The Food Bank in its mission to end hunger, while also providing you with a important work experience to inform your future career path and workplace selection.

Skills:

PLACEMENT / PROJECT DESCRIPTION

Campus Chapter Leadership
- Participate in the efforts to engage Smith students in Habitat activities.

Construction Volunteer
- Framing, drywalling, roofing, landscaping, painting, door & window installation, siding. Sat. 9:00 a.m.-4:00 p.m.; Sun. 12:00-4:00 p.m.

Crew Leader
- Lead small groups of construction volunteers on specific tasks on Sat. 9:00 a.m.-4:00 p.m.; Sun. 12:00-4:00 p.m.

Office Cleaner
- Come in once weekly or biweekly and help organize and clean the office in Florence.

Office Volunteer
- Assist with database management, data entry, and other administrative tasks in support of our mission.

Site Host
- Greet and welcome volunteers at construction sites--get them signed in and equipped for the day's tasks: Sat. 8:30-9:30 a.m.; Sun. 11:30 a.m.-12:00 p.m.

WomenBuild Coordinator
- Organize and recruit women for women build days at the construction site throughout the year and during national Women Build week in early May.

Mission: Our goal is to make homeownership possible for low-income families in our region. Through the donation money, land, expertise, and labor we commit ourselves to construct inexpensive, sturdy houses. We further commit to provide our families with the supportive services necessary to become successful and responsible homeowners. We challenge our community to share from its abundant resources, labor and capital, with those in need. We pledge ourselves to the building of genuine community through the shared labor of constructing decent, affordable homes for those less fortunate than ourselves.

Goals: To identify and achieve specific organizational tasks that serve the needs of the volunteer and Pioneer Valley Habitat.

Skills: No construction skills needed to be involved in building—just a willing spirit. Attend a 1-hour orientation and then you can build with us on our Habitat houses, or volunteer at our events. I can come on site to Smith College to lead an Orientation for 10 or more people. No long-term commitment required. Sign up for 1 construction shift at a time. You are only committed to that shift.

PLACEMENT / PROJECT
Volunteer for Saturday noon meal or other times.

DESCRIPTON
Help prepare, serve, and clean up one meal. Serve food buffet-style and relate respectfully to guests.

Mission: The MANNA Soup Kitchen, Inc. strives to provide hot, healthy meals to hungry people in the local community. We work to create a safe and hospitable setting where guests can find warmth and fellowship and be treated with respect. At present we serve 3 meals every week year-round and community dinners on Thanksgiving and Christmas Day.

Goals: To become familiar with the workings of a soup kitchen and be aware of the lack of food security for many people in the local community.

Skills: None - will train. Should be comfortable with the guests and flexible about tasks.

Training: Not much training is needed beyond basic familiarity with kitchen skills. Additional training is provided for any volunteer who feels in need of more instruction.

Directions: MANNA’s Saturday noon meal takes place at the Edwards Church, 297 Main St. (at the corner of Main and State Streets, across the street from the Academy of Music) in Northampton. Side entrance is at the back of the church, facing State St. Volunteer hours are 10:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m.
The Northampton Survival Center is dedicated to improving the quality of life for low-income individuals and families throughout Hampshire County by providing nutritious food and other resources in an atmosphere of dignity and respect.

Mission: We strive to match up enthusiastic individuals with tasks that are well suited for them. It is very important the volunteers are able to honor their commitments. In our experience, many student volunteers have the best of intentions but may not be realistic about what they can fit into their already busy schedules. Please be mindful of this when considering a volunteer position at the Center.

Goals: Responsible, warm, attentive to detail, works well with others.

Skills: Individual, informal, supervision by volunteer coordinator and/or staff.

Training: From Helen Hills Hills Chapel, drive toward the Quad on Elm Street. Make a right on Franklin, turn left onto Prospect. The Northampton Survival Center will be on your immediate right. Alternatively, walk or drive down Prospect St. at the intersection of Rt. 9 and Prospect, just across the street from John M. Greene Hall. Continue on Prospect for about eight tenths of a mile. The Survival Center will be on your right.
Nuestras Raíces is a grassroots urban agriculture organization based in Holyoke MA. Our mission is to create healthy environments, celebrate “agri-culture,” harness our collective energy, and to advance our vision of a just and sustainable future.

Nuestras Raíces promotes economic, human and community development in Holyoke through projects relating to food, agriculture and the environment. It draws its membership and its leadership from its network of community gardens.

Skills: Project placement will vary with skills and interest of each volunteer. Spanish is very helpful, experience working with youth is helpful, as is knowledge of agriculture or gardening.

Training: Volunteers will be primarily supervised by the director of their respective project, with additional support from the volunteer coordinator.

Directions: Our main offices are located at 329 Main Street in Holyoke (handicapped accessible), our farm is located at 24 Jones Ferry Road (not handicapped accessible).

Mission:

Homework House provides free tutoring and mentoring for children who are at-risk for academic failure and dropping out of school. We give children a loving and caring environment in which to improve their skills in reading and math. We help them improve their literacy skills so they can become productive members of our community. We work towards rekindling their interest in learning and self-improvement. Services are provided to school-age children without regard to race, religion, ethnicity, or gender.

Goals:

To assist students enrolled in Kindergarten through 6th grade with homework completion and improvement of reading and math skills. The volunteer will also act to enhance self-esteem and confidence in the student through encouragement and positive reinforcement. To build a positive and supportive relationship that will engage and motivate students to work towards the improvement of ability and effort in all academic subjects, attitude about school and academic achievement.

Our program runs after school, Monday through Friday and we ask volunteers to come at least one day (preferably two days) per week consistently.

Skills:

Patience and enthusiasm. Ability to effectively communicate sensitivity, respect and understanding of the needs of underachieving students. Ability to establish and maintain a trusting and positive working relationship with students. Accepting of people from different cultures, backgrounds and ages. Commitment to bettering lives through education. (No previous teaching experience necessary.)

Training:

Orientation and training are provided prior to starting. Training/support also happen at monthly reflection luncheons.

Directions:

To reach 340 Chestnut Street, take 91 South from Smith to exit 16. Turn left at exit and go through 3 traffic lights. At 4th light, take a right and a left at the next light. After this left, take a quick right onto Franklin Street and go straight for 3 blocks. At the Chestnut Street cross street, our building is a large red brick building on the left between Chestnut and Maple streets. There is a parking lot on the left. Park there and enter into the back lower level door to sign in.

PLACEMENT / PROJECT

Tutor/Mentor – work 1-1 or in small groups within the classroom. Grades 1-5

Mission: To provide 1:1 support for children who are recently re-settled refugees or ELL students experiencing relocation transitional trauma by encouraging their academic success and social acculturation to the school community by working with them in the classroom to help them complete and fully understand their school work.

Goals: Working with children in the classroom to focus on both academic and social school success, tutor/mentors will provide extra individual support helping the tutees. Content areas that tutors focus on include: reading comprehension and readiness, vocabulary, ability to decipher background and contextual information in their classroom assignments, expanding their speaking in English by encouraging them to speak in full sentences, utilizing new vocabulary words and participating in class discussions.

Skills: Open to developing a respect and understanding for the arduous journey that refugees experience by being non-judgmental and interested in supporting a child's academic and social success. Tutor must be willing to make a minimum 3 hour regular weekly time commitment. A two semester commitment is preferred.

Training: Interview/meeting and on-going support. Attend 2 on-campus reflection lunches per semester.

Directions: Take 91 South to exit 4 toward MA-83 S/Main St/ East Longmeadow. Turn left under I-91 following signs to Rt. 83. Quick right up Longhill Street; continue following signs for Rt. 83. Turn left onto Sumner Ave. Turn left onto Oakland Street. Cross Dickinson St. Turn right onto Bloomfield St. Take a left into school parking lot and enter school through back door on Bloomfield St.
The Literacy Project offers free classes and educational programs to adults and teens in basic skills, including reading, writing, math, computers, and GED test preparation. We seek to help low-literacy adults gain the skills, knowledge and confidence to move forward towards their own goals at work, within their families, and within the community. We see literacy and basic skills education as a fundamental part of personal and community development, and the cornerstone of social change.

Our goal for tutors is to increase the individual instruction we offer to our students through the volunteer tutoring program. Our goal for administrative assistants is to provide efficient office support for our Northampton classroom.

We are seeking volunteer tutors who are patient, flexible, creative, and intrigued by the learning process. Tutors must be sensitive to wide differences in learning styles, cultures and personal backgrounds, as well as fluent in English. Classes run Monday-Friday, 9:00 a.m.-12:30 p.m.

We are seeking administrative assistants who are interested in building non-profit administrative skills and are flexible and detail-oriented.

Training: Training is provided through both in-person workshops and on-line tutorials and correspondence. Volunteer tutors are asked to complete 12 hours of training within the first 10 weeks of service.

Directions: The Literacy Project runs classes in downtown Northampton (within walking distance), Amherst (a short walk from the Amherst-Northampton bus), Greenfield, Orange and Ware (a car is required for these three sites). Directions to all sites are available on our website, www.literacyproject.org.

PLACEMENT / PROJECT

Research Associate – Screen patients for research protocols, assist with informed consent, assist in implementing study procedures, collect data by reviewing medical records and interviewing patients

Mission: The purpose of the Research Associates Program (RAP) is to provide students hands on experience with research and how an emergency room functions. It is the hope of the coordinators that students will learn about medical terminology, medical procedures, etc. Students should leave the program with an increased knowledge of most medical processes.

Goals: This program provides a unique opportunity to participate in clinical research, observe ED operations, and learn from the physicians, nurses and staff of the ED. You will also have the opportunity to attend research and clinical medicine lectures. The Research Associates Program (RAP) will increase your knowledge of medical terminology as well as human anatomy and physiology. It can provide valuable experiences to include in your resume. Letters of recommendation can be provided upon satisfactory participation in the program.

Skills: Must have an interest in medicine or other health profession. A resume and letter of recommendation is required; commitment of at least 8 hrs/week; commitment of at least 1 year. We prefer individuals who have personal transportation. Individuals who apply for the program should be self motivated and a team player. Associates need to be comfortable approaching strangers as this will be a large part of their experience. Furthermore, this experience requires detail oriented work that is meticulous and accurate. There is a strong emphasis on data entry and data collection with less emphasis on direct patient interaction. This is not a placement where there will be one-on-one patient interaction or care.

Training: Training will occur over the course of a semester. An associate is not expected to work independently unless they feel comfortable and the research staff also feel comfortable allowing the associate to work alone. The training session is somewhat regiment.

Directions: From the North: Take Route 91 southbound, take Birnie Avenue, Exit 11. From the exit, follow the blue signs to the main entrance. Park in the visitor’s lot or in the parking garage if the lot is full. Individuals should enter through the main entrance in the Daly Building.

Mission: A grass roots agency working for social change at a low-income led, anti-oppression organization in Springfield, MA. Through the years, ARISE has organized a tent city with homeless people that pushed the city to develop a comprehensive homeless plan; led a lengthy but successful campaign to change from an at-large form of government to elections by ward; ran an underground needle exchange program to meet people's needs while working for statewide enabling legislation.
Arise for Social Justice, Inc.

Goals: To build power for oppressed people by educating, organizing, and uniting working people, people of color, people with disabilities, and Gays and Lesbians on entitlement programs: to know our rights, to stand up for our rights and to obtain our rights.

Skills: Passion for community service and social justice.

Training: Training and supervision are provided.

Directions: Take I91 S towards Springfield. Get off State Street exit toward Downtown Springfield and go straight up the hill - Arise is on right across from STCC.
