

June 2019

Dear Entering Ada Comstock Scholar,

Congratulations and welcome to Smith College!

As your class dean, I am responsible for overseeing the academic progress of all Ada Comstock Scholars. I look forward to meeting you this fall and to working with you during your time here at Smith.

Typically, Ada Comstock Scholars take between 8-16 credits. Smith offers on-line course registration from Monday, July 22- Friday, July 26, 2019 for entering Adas. If you would like to schedule an advising appointment with me prior to summer registration, please call my office at 413-585-4930. Advising appointments are available weekdays from Tuesday, July 9 – Friday, July 19, 2019. At the end of June, you will receive more information about credits and registration from the Registrar's Office to prepare you for summer on-line registration.

We have planned Orientation from August 30 – September 4 to help you learn about the college and to meet each other. Please clear your schedule so you are able to attend the events listed in the Orientation schedule which is updated often throughout the summer.

When you arrive at Smith, you will be assigned a faculty adviser. During Orientation you will meet your adviser in order to discuss the courses you may have chosen during the summer registration process, and to get suggestions about courses you may not have considered. You and your adviser will finalize your schedule.

On our "For New Students" website, you will find a link to our Making the Most of Smith booklet. This is a guide that pertains in large part to traditional Smith students, but you might want to peruse it since there is some general information that may be of interest to you. Your central resource for academic information is the Smith College Course Catalog. The Catalog includes information about the organization of the curriculum, defines the Liberal Arts, explains Smith's "Academic Rules and Procedures," and offers descriptions and requirements for all majors, minors, and concentrations. For specific courses held in fall 2019, see the Schedule of Classes at the Registrar's website.

You should also be sure to explore the many services Smith offers all of its students, such as Disability Services—support for students with physical disabilities and learning differences (413-585-2071; TTY/TDD 413-585-2072); the Jacobson Center—consultation for writing, tutorial services in all fields, workshops, study skills and time management strategies; and the Spinelli Center for Quantitative Reasoning—assistance with math and quantitative skills. In addition, the Libraries have an informative website.

As part of our Orientation, all entering students are asked to read a book before their arrival through our “Smith Reads” program. This Year’s book is How Culture Shapes the Climate Change Debate by Andrew J. Hoffman. More information about the reading is available in the “Smith Reads” section of our new students website.

In closing, I would like again to personally welcome you to Smith. I am available to you for advice and advising. You can learn more about me and about the Class Deans Office where I work (College Hall 101) by visiting our website. Our assistants can also help with questions - feel free to give them a call at our office.

Smith’s mission is to educate women of promise for lives of distinction. Everyone at Smith is here to help you achieve that promise - and we all look forward to meeting you in the fall. In the meantime, enjoy the next few months before the start of the fall semester.

Sincerely,
