

Religious History of South Asia I: Ancient to Medieval (REL 275)

Fall 2015
Seelye 313, MW 1–2:30

PROFESSOR: Andy Rotman
OFFICE: Pierce Hall 203
OFFICE HOURS: MW 4–5 or by appointment
EMAIL: arotman@smith.edu

REQUIREMENTS

1. Read attentively. Finish the assignments for each class before class time and think hard about them.
2. Attend class regularly. Being present is an important part of your class participation grade, and more than two unexcused absences will put that grade in jeopardy.
3. Listen actively and speak thoughtfully. Although class is large, this is not just a lecture course. We plan to discuss the materials with you, so be prepared to talk about them. Keep in mind Wittgenstein's aphorism, "Even to have expressed a false thought boldly and clearly is already to have gained a great deal."
4. Make regular postings on Moodle, responding to the readings, class discussion, and/or the postings of other students. I expect you to post 250+ words each week. Your postings should demonstrate a thoughtful engagement with the material. To that end, I don't care if your posts are informal. Being chatty is fine as long as you're insightful. Ideally, you will post multiple times each week such that conversations develop. Postings made during a particular week should be posted in the folder for that week, and all postings for a particular week should be submitted by Saturday at midnight of that week. At the end of the semester, you will be expected to print out all of your posts and submit them to me. These are due on the last day of classes, December 14th.
4. Complete a take-home exam, involving about 10 pages of writing. The exam questions will be distributed on Wednesday, November 18th, discussed in class on Monday, November 23rd, and due in the box outside my office by 6 pm on Wednesday, November 25th. (Electronic versions of the paper are accepted in extenuating circumstances.)
5. Produce a final creative project. These projects are not meant to be involved works of research; instead, they should be imaginative efforts to engage with the materials from the semester. This may involve reading a few poems or a story that you've written and then discussing how you felt producing this writing, what you understand it to mean, or how you would like it to be understood. You may also choose to show the class some images that you've produced or procured and offer similar insights. Performance pieces and collaborative efforts are also encouraged. This is your chance to produce something in creative conversation with the religious world of South Asia—not just in intellectual conversation, as you will do in your take-home exam—and you may do so through any of the senses.

In summary, your grade will be determined by the quality of your participation in class (30%), your postings on Moodle (30%), your take-home exam (35%), and your final project (5%).

If you have any questions about an assignment or need help or an extension, please let me know. Just send me an email or stop by during my office hours. I will do my best to be accessible, and I'm happy to make special arrangements to meet.
