Request for Tuition Assistance Benefits

Smith's commitment to academic achievement and lifelong learning is what we are all about. In support of this commitment, we make a significant investment in providing employees with rich opportunities for professional growth and development. Tuition assistance is available to eligible employees, their spouse, and their children.

This document describes the process in Workday for requesting Tuition Assistance Benefits. Prior to submitting your request, we encourage you to review the full program details including eligibility requirements online at https://www.smith.edu/about-smith/hr/benefits.
