"Beauty in Exile"

What does it mean to be told that you're beautiful, after a lifetime of feeling like a monster?

Disabled bodies are rarely seen as locations of desire. Art, theory and personal narrative intertwine in this discussion of loved and despised bodies.

Riva Lehrer
April 15, 2014, 7pm
Seelye 207

Sponsored by the Program for the Study of Women and Gender and the Lecture Committee, Smith College