Intersectionality in the Streets
Resistance in a Time of Trump

Linda Sarsour

Wednesday, April 26
Weinstein Auditorium, Wright Hall
7 p.m.

Introduction by Paula Giddings, Elizabeth A. Woodson Professor of Africana Studies and editor of Meridians: feminism, race, transnationalism

Palestinian American activist Linda Sarsour was the co-chair of the 2017 Women’s March, held the day after the inauguration of Donald Trump, and one of the most visible leaders of the Women’s March. She is the executive director of the Arab American Association of New York and has been part of a host of other progressive movements, including Black Lives Matter and Respond With Love.

Sponsored by the Program for the Study of Women and Gender and the Office of Student Life and Development, the Center for Africana Studies, and the Center for Women’s, Gender, and Sexuality Studies. Free and open to the public.

SMITH COLLEGE